Professional Education

at HGSE serves:

- 9,500 early childhood, K-12, and higher education professionals around the world each year through more than
- 90+ programs offered on-campus and online
- Global Participation

What We Believe

We believe that through exceptional professional education that is responsive and relevant to the challenges practitioners face, we can equip and empower educators and institutions around the world to improve their practice in service of their students, schools, and communities.

Through transformative adult learning, we elevate student learning.

What We Do

We are committed to three strategic priorities:

1. Cultivating Innovators and Leaders
2. Collaborating on Questions that Matter
3. Communicating with the Field

We offer on-campus, online, and custom programs for:

- Higher Education professionals
- K-12 educators
- Early Childhood educators
- Policy-makers, non-profit leaders, parents, and other education professionals

On Campus Residential Programs

- Research-based
- Focused on Practical Application
- Led by Harvard faculty
- Facilitated by faculty and practitioners
- From 2 days to 2 weeks on campus
- Participants in a variety of roles across the education sector
- Participants from 100 countries

Custom Programs

- Developed through consultation with the client and its constituents
- Uses the same instructional methodologies, curricula, and expert faculty
- Delivered on Harvard's campus or on-site at a client's location
- Ideal cohort size of 50 people
